++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Heavy rain at times today. Feeling colder tomorrow.

Today:
A band of showery rain will spread eastwards during the morning, turning heavy and thundery in places. It is likely to turn to drier for a time around the middle of the day, before rain returns later in the day. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
A wet evening as a band of heavy rain moves eastwards, accompanied by strong winds. The rain will clear by midnight, but further rain arrives from the north by dawn. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Thursday:
A cloudy and damp start, but skies quickly brightening, leaving many with a dry and sunny day with a few showers in the west. Feeling much colder than of late. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Friday will be largely dry but again feeling rather cold. It then turns milder as we head into the weekend, with bands of rain accompanied by stronger winds moving in.
